

IF COVID-19 vaccines are available why are lockdowns and social distancing still needed?

Lockdown and social distancing measures are primarily in place to control the spread of the virus.

By themselves these measures can even eliminate the virus, as has occurred in some small island nations.

However, there is always a risk that the virus could be re-imported from abroad.

